OUR PRODUCTS
From awnings and chassis to electronics and mobile apps, LCI supplies a wide array of premium components to a variety of industries.
Time is a precious gift to give. With so many local corporations and community members who are passionate about community outreach, we wanted to create a centralized “hub” that allows corporations, and their employees, to easily connect with local nonprofits in need of volunteer support. If we all gave an hour of our time here and there, what a world this would be!

Our goal is to make a positive impact within our communities, plain and simple. We know it’s not always easy to find ways to connect with our communities, and we know that not everyone has found their niche among a sea of nonprofits and worthy causes. We want to connect those looking to get involved in their community with the community itself. With a large network of local nonprofits updating the Acts Of Service database each and every day, we’re confident that everyone who has an interest in getting involved will be able to find the cause that tugs at their heartstrings and easily sign-up for volunteer opportunities. They say, you get what you give and we hope everyone gives at least a little of their precious time.
